

Critters

Writers' Workshop

www.critters.org

LOOKING FOR CRITIQUES OF YOUR SCIENCE FICTION,
FANTASY, OR HORROR WRITING?

Look no further!

What is it? Critters is a free on-line workshop for serious SF/F/H writers. What do I need to join? Manuscripts are exchanged by email, so anyone with Internet email access can join. Is it any good? Well, we think so. :-) Stories receive an average of twenty detailed reviews, more than in most face-to-face groups, and we have a special fast-track for novels. How much work is it? We ask authors for an average of three critiques a month; one a month for SFWA/HWA members. But you can't go out for pizza afterwards, can you? Well, no, but we have our own private newsgroup on sff.net's server with lots of lively chatter. Ok, how do I join? Visit our web site to look around (it also has a wealth of SF & writing resources); then send email to info@critters.org saying you want in or join via the web page. Your writing will thank you for it.

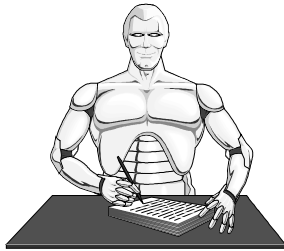

"The critters in Critters are very good at critiquing. I've gotten some excellent feedback on my story... I would highly recommend Critters to anyone on-line interested in improving their genre writing."
—Michael Burstein, Campbell Award Winner

"Meantime, wow! [Member's name] is not only a first-rate writer, he's a first-rate critiquer... [This] is JUST the kind of feedback I was really seeking! I am so glad I joined this group."
—Sherwood Smith, author of 17 SF novels

Critters Workshop

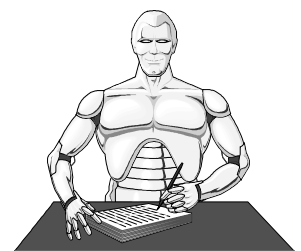

www.critters.org

Critters

Writers' Workshop

www.critters.org

LOOKING FOR CRITIQUES OF YOUR SCIENCE FICTION,
FANTASY, OR HORROR WRITING?

Look no further!

What is it? Critters is a free on-line workshop for serious SF/F/H writers. What do I need to join? Manuscripts are exchanged by email, so anyone with Internet email access can join. Is it any good? Well, we think so. :-) Stories receive an average of twenty detailed reviews, more than in most face-to-face groups, and we have a special fast-track for novels. How much work is it? We ask authors for an average of three critiques a month; one a month for SFWA/HWA members. But you can't go out for pizza afterwards, can you? Well, no, but we have our own private newsgroup on sff.net's server with lots of lively chatter. Ok, how do I join? Visit our web site to look around (it also has a wealth of SF & writing resources); then send email to info@critters.org saying you want in, or join via the web page. Your writing will thank you for it.

"The critters in Critters are very good at critiquing. I've gotten some excellent feedback on my story... I would highly recommend Critters to anyone on-line interested in improving their genre writing."
—Michael Burstein, Campbell Award Winner

"Meantime, wow! [Member's name] is not only a first-rate writer, he's a first-rate critiquer... [This] is JUST the kind of feedback I was really seeking! I am so glad I joined this group."
—Sherwood Smith, author of 17 SF novels

Critters Workshop

www.critters.org